

FORRESTERS

ENVIRONMENTAL POLICY

Forresters policy is to conduct all business activities in a manner that protects the environment and as such, will comply with all applicable laws and regulations.

Forresters will actively seek out methods and designs to improve its processes and business activities, which will promote waste reduction, resource and property conservation, in addition to environmental protection.

Wherever possible, materials used will be of recyclable nature and further use will be made of them, after Forresters have utilised them for its business purposes.

Product waste will be separated into relevant categories and collected by specialist recycling or waste removal contractors in accordance with all relevant laws and regulations.

Chemicals employed for cleaning and sanitisation of the factory plant and environment will be of nature, which limits any threat to the environment. Forresters will work in partnership with its chemical supplier to look for more environmentally 'green' alternatives, wherever possible.

To that end Forresters are fully committed to reducing its impact on the environment.

Heidi Nickson
Director
April 2017 Issue No. 3
Reviewed March 2021